Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Reference is made to the following documents:

D1: WO 94 16746 A

2. D1 describes a wound dressing suitable for the treatment of traumatic, surgical and chronic wounds, for example donor graft sites (p. 13, lines 3-9). The dressing consists of carboxymethyl cellulose filaments (claim 1), capable of absorbing more than 25g/g of fluid (examples 2 and 3), capable of absorbing wound exudate when applied to the wound (p.12, lines 25-31; claims 19 and 20) thereby forming a transparent gel (page 3, lines 34-36; p. 12, lines 25-27) but still retaining enough fibrous character to be removed as a coherent dressing from the wound (claim 20). The subject-matter of claims 1-3 and 6-8 of the present application is hereby fully anticipated by D1, and therefore claims 1-3 and 6-8 do not meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of novelty and inventive step.

Since the wound dressing disclosed in D1 contains the same technical features as the wound dressing disclosed in claims 4 and 5, the subject-matter of claims 4 and 5 is therefore inherently disclosed in D1. Consequently, claims 4 and 5 cannot be considered novel and inventive either.

3. Claims 1-8 of the present application fulfill the requirements of the PCT with respect to industrial applicability.

Claims

- 1) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds requiring the use of a biological dressing, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.
- 2) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for allograft skin for use in the treatment of acute wounds requiring the use of allograft skin, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.
- 3) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of an adherent temporary cover for use in the treatment of acute wounds requiring a temporary cover, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.
- 4) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds by adhering to the wound and providing conditions conducive to epithelial outgrowth, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.
- 5) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds by promoting vertical wicking into the dressing, thereby modulating inflammatory response, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.

-11-

- 6) A wound dressing for use in the treatment of burns which promotes vertical wicking into the dressing and thereby modulates inflammatory response, the wound dressing comprising highly absorbent fibres.
- 7) Use of a wound dressing as claimed in any preceding claim, the wound dressing comprising fibres that can absorb at least 25g/g of deionized water.
- 8) Use of a wound dressing as claimed in claim 6 wherein the fibres are modified cellulose fibres.

Claims

- 1) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds.
- 2) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for allograft skin for use in the treatment of acute wounds.
- 3) Use of a wound dressing in the preparation of an adherent temporary cover for use in the treatment of acute wounds.
- 4) Use of a wound dressing as claimed in any preceding claim wherein the wound dressing is fibrous.
- 5) Use of a wound dressing as claimed in claim 4 wherein the wound dressing comprises fibres of carboxymethyl cellulose.
- 6) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds by adhering to the wound and providing conditions conducive to epithelial outgrowth.
- 7) Use of a wound dressing for the preparation of a substitute for a biological dressing for use in the treatment of acute wounds by promoting vertical wicking into the dressing, thereby modulating inflammatory response.
